SET 2 CANDIDATE A

TASK 2 INTERACTION

- Your conversation will last about 7-8 minutes.
- Avoid short answers and do not hesitate to ask questions or express your views as you would in a real conversation.
- Your partner's information is different from yours.
- Try to use the structures and vocabulary expected at this level.
- Try to reach an agreement at the end of the conversation, if possible.

DIALOGUE 2: MOVING IN TOGETHER

You and your partner have decided to move in together but before taking this big step, there are a few details you need to agree on. Your priorities are:

- Three bedrooms: one for each of you plus a spare room.
- A parking place for your brand-new car.
- Preferably in the suburbs.
- Air conditioning is a must.
- Internet access and cable TV are essential.
- Others.

SET 2 CANDIDATE B

TASK 2 INTERACTION

- Your conversation will last about 7-8 minutes.
- Avoid short answers and do not hesitate to ask questions or express your views as you would in a real conversation.
- Your partner's information is different from yours.
- Try to use the structures and vocabulary expected at this level.
- Try to reach an agreement at the end of the conversation, if possible.

DIALOGUE 2: MOVING IN TOGETHER

You and your partner have decided to move in together but before taking this big step, there are a few details you need to agree on. Your priorities are:

- 2 bedrooms for the 2 of you.
- No need for a parking place: you're a bike sort of person.
- Preferably within cycling distance of local amenities.
- You can contribute an electric fan and a heater.
- Internet just at work, not at home: we're enslaved by technology.
- Others.

SCAN ME_{B2}

Student A:

Hey Jane, how's it going? I couldn't sleep all night. I'm super excited we're going to live together. I've been looking online for all kinds of flats for us to rent.

Student B:

Oh, hi Carol, I know, me too...it's going to be great, just the two of us, finally not having to live with our parents...

Student A:

Listen, I've got a couple of doubts I think we should sort out before moving on, so we know exactly what kind of flat we are looking for. I was thinking we need three bedrooms, one for each of us and a spare room to study, read or work, would that suit you too?

Student B:

Oh, waw...I don't know what to say about that...do you really think 3 bedrooms are necessary? I was thinking more of two bedrooms, one for each...we could use the living room to study and all that... Besides, I would really love our flat to be near to the center and I imagine it could be quite expensive to have an extra bedroom.

Student A:

In the town center? You can't be serious! With all the traffic, and noise, and millions of people...I would rather look for a nice place in the suburbs.

Flats are cheaper and it could be easier to find a parking place for my brand-new car, wouldn't you say that?

Student B:

Oh...God...I had forgotten about your car...

I'm more of a bike sort of person and I really love cycling just about anywhere, that's why I've always thought of living in the center near to all kinds of amenities. Don't worry, I'm sure we can work something out.

Student A:

Well, there is something else on my mind too. The air conditioning. I really think it's a must. Wouldn't you agree?

Student B:

Waw...hold your horses there! The air conditioning could be quite expensive to buy right away and the electricity bill could be pretty high. What if we hold on for a year and see how it goes without it? I can contribute with an electric fan and a heater so I think we can get by with these for the moment, and next year we reconsider.

Student A:

You definitely have a point there, ok, we'll forget about the air conditioning for the moment, but the internet connection and cable TV are non-negotiable! I can't live without my PC. Please say yes!!!

Student B:

You must be joking! After all the computer hours at work, do you still feel like using it at home? I do agree with the cable TV, but the internet is really not necessary, come on, we're enslaved by technology...

Student A:

Ok, you've convinced me...no internet, only the cable TV.

Student B:

So, let's see what we've arranged so far: A house in the suburbs with a parking place for your car, no need for air conditioning for the moment, nor internet connection, only the cable TV.

Student A:

Great, now we'll only have to decide whether we should get 2 or 3 bedrooms. What if we both look for places with these characteristics and see if the prices are reasonable?

Student B:

That's a great idea. But we'll have to do it by the end of the month, ok?

Student A:

Ok, I'll see you next week and we make a decision then.

Student B:

Great. Bye.
